DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to inclose list of sharpshooters and marksmen, with scores as made at the Encampment of the 2nd Regiment, N. G. S. M., at Lake View, June 19th to 29th, 1889, together with a proficiency table which may be of some service to you in your future deliberations. I would respectfully recommend that a system of classification be adopted whereby each man would be rated by a percentage of all scores fired while in camp similar to that in use in United States army.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
E. W. BIRD,

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL OF SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

ST. PAUL, MINN., November 1, 1890.

Gen. J. H. Mullen, Adjutant General, N. G. S. M.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith my report of the rifle practice and state matches of the Minnesota National Guard for the year 1890. While the weather conditions were unfavorable for all three regiments of infantry during their respective periods of ten day's encampment, the new system of practice provided this year in General Order No. 6, was thoroughly successful. While not so many men succeeded in making marksmen and sharpshooter scores as in former years the conditions required are sufficiently easy, and with good weather next year, previous records in this regard will undoubtedly be eclipsed.

THE THIRD REGIMENT.

The Third regiment went into camp at Lake City on the 10th day of June and remained for a period of ten days. Owing to the prevalence of rain storms during the few days previous to the encampment of the regiment, the work of repairing the old rifle pits and the completion of the new four-target butt for the 600-yard range was considerably delayed so that the range was not entirely ready for rifle practice on the first day. Rain interrupted the shooting more or less throughout the encampment, and as a consequence the conditions of the orders for practice could not be strictly complied with in every particular. The orders were generally carried out, however, with the exception of the preliminary practice for recruits which was in many instances—from necessity—abandoned, and the new men started at once in shooting for a place in one of the classes of the regular course.

The new reloading tools supplied by the state for their initial trial in the guard were first utilized by the Third regiment. While I shall refer to the plan of using reloaded ammunition further along in these comments, I will state here that the Third regiment was most successful in the use of the reloaded ammunition. The one reason for this was the fact that nearly the same detail of men was in charge of the work of reloading throughout the season of the ten days encampment. Lieut. Maudlin, the regimental inspector of small arms practice, in addition to superintending the work on the range and the reloading of the cartridge shells, conducted the work of putting in the new rifle butt for the 600-yard shooting. His untiring zeal in personally instructing the members of the command in the use of their rifles shows its effect in the records of the shooting which appears in this report.

THE SECOND REGIMENT.

The Second regiment went into camp at Lake City on June 20, and remained for the usual period of ten days. Like the Third regiment the rifle shooting of this command was much retarded by the rainy weather which prevailed throughout the month of June and the number of men who succeeded in qualifying as marksmen and sharpshooters was comparatively light.

There was considerable complaint among the shooters because of alleged unevenness of the reloaded ammunition. The work of reloading was largely conducted by details from the several companies. Lieut. E. W. Bird, regimental inspector of small arms practice, personally instructed many of the members of the command in shooting and reloading ammunition, so that taking into consideration the very unfavorable condition of the weather, the resulting scores were not altogether unsatisfactory.

THE FIRST REGIMENT.

The First regiment went into camp on July 10, for the accustomed period of ten days, but as in the preceding case, again owing to inclement weather, though chiefly on account of the terrible hurricane and its attendant horrors which struck Lake City on Sunday, July 13, there was not much more than five days of work accomplished on the range. During the few days following the Sunday referred to, the men of the regiment were employed assisting in the work of recovering the bodies of those lost in the wreck of the steamer "Sea Wing." The accident came just as the regiment was about to complete the last series of the regular practice, and in consequence many of the scores were necessarily left unfinished and none of the companies practiced at volley firing. However, notwithstanding these unfortunate circumstances, Lieut. Williams, the regimental inspector, made good use of all the time available, and as a consequence the work on the range was better and the resulting scores more satisfactory than could have been expected under the existing conditions. This regiment performed the work of reloading ammunition by detailing unpracticed men from the several companies daily, no one man putting in more than one day at the work throughout the encampment. As a consequence many shells were improperly loaded and sized and a great deal of complaint was the result.

RELOADED AMMUNITION.

In reference to the plan of having the several regiments of infantry reload their ammunition, I would respectfully recommend that hereafter it be abandoned. As a substitute, I would suggest that the state employ certain men who are expert in reloading ammunition to perform this work of reloading at each encampment. I am of the opinion that three men would be a sufficient number for this purpose, and their services could probably be secured for the requisite twenty-five or thirty days each year for the sum of $2.00 per day. While this would make a slight increase in the amount of money expended by the state for ammunition, the annual outlay for this purpose would not be nearly as great as that of former years when only original ammunition was used.

When men from the various companies are detailed to work a half day, or day, as the case may be, and are relieved at the reloading benches by other men equally inexperienced, the result of their work cannot be other than unsatisfactory. Unpracticed men in this sort of work, whose interest is almost entirely centered in the question of when they are to be relieved, cannot be depended upon to supply reloaded cartridges, all of which will hold the same degree of elevation, when fired at long range. Inexperienced men are very apt, also, to be careless in resizing the shells, consequently in skirmishing most of the reloaded cartridges are practically useless.

BRIEF MENTION.

General order No. 6 contains a paragraph stating that companies not practicing with at least 50 per cent. of its number at class firing, and 40 per cent. of its enlisted men at volley firing, shall be published as delinquent in target practice. I would respectfully recommend that this requirement be not enforced this year.

The reason for this is on account of the unfavorable weather which so generally prevailed at the time of the encampments of the three regiments.

The following table shows the individual and general figure of merit of the several commands. The First Regiment did not do any volley firing. The Second and Third Regiments, instead of taking 40 per cent. of the enlisted men of the several companies for volley firing, selected exactly twenty men in all cases.

In former years it has been the custom of the Minnesota National Guard Rifle Association to hold its annual tournament at about the same time and place as the state matches were held. The plan was abandoned this year, however, and the trophies of the Association were awarded to different competitors in the state matches by making different combinations for the several articles annually shot for. I should recommend that the Association be given more encouragement by the state, for the reason that the matches have added much benefit to the proficiency of the state's marksmen since its organization.

THE STATE TEAM.

At the conclusion of the state matches at Camp Lakeview, twenty men were chosen to put in a day's practice after the other competitors had departed, the object being to select the team of fourteen men therefrom to represent the state at the Camp Douglas interstate match. In selecting the men I conferred with Lieut. Clark of the First Regiment, Lieut. Bird of the Second Regiment and Lieut. Maudlin of the Third Regiment, and in choosing the state team, these officers acted with me in deciding on the respective merit of competitors. As a result of our selections the following were selected to go to Camp Douglas and be recorded as the state team for the year 1890-91, the ten first named being the regular competitors in the interstate match:

Captain W. C. Morgan, company H, Third regiment.
Lieutenant C. Maudlin, I. S. A. P., Third regiment.
Lieutenant E. W. Bird, I. S. A. P., Second regiment.
Lieutenant T. C. Clark, assistant surgeon, First regiment.
Lieutenant W. J. Davenport, company K, Third regiment.
Sergeant C. W. Carpenter, staff Second regiment.
Sergeant E. G. Falk, company A, First regiment.
Private D. S. Wade, company D, Second regiment.
Private F. J. Britton, company K, Third regiment.
Colonel A. E. Chantler, General I. S. A. P.

ALTERNATES.

Private E. H. Whitcombe, company C, First regiment.
Private W. J. Bain, company K, Third regiment.
Corporal F. W. Britton, company K, Third regiment.
Lieutenant C. S. Williams, I. S. A. P. First regiment.

In addition to the fourteen men above named, Lieutenant O. E. Lee, staff Third regiment, Private O. Oleson, company G, First regiment and Private W. J. Bell, company C, First regiment, accompanied the team to Camp Douglas as assistants to officers of the rifle association. Lieutenant A. L. Pray, company A, First regiment, Ex-Captain J. L. Amory, company A, First regiment and Lieutenant E. W. Glenn, U. S. A., were also on the range during the interstate competition and assisted largely in the work of bringing the team home as victors.

In the preliminary two day's shooting at Camp Douglas, while the Minnesota team made the best record at the known distance firing, it showed a lack of practice at skirmish firing. The team, however, improved each day as the following summary of the team totals will show:

PRELIMINARY PRACTICE.

First day.		Second day.
Iowa	1,154	Iowa	2,351
Illinois	1,143	Minnesota	2,315
Minnesota	1,140	Wisconsin	2,300

Illinois	1,193	Illinois	2,366
Wisconsin	1,184	Iowa	2,296
Michigan	1,118	Michigan	2,225

The following summary shows that the match was won by the Minnesota team at the fixed distance ranges:

In the preliminary practice at Camp Douglas the following total scores were made by members of the Minnesota men present who had not previously qualified as sharpshooters: Lieutenant W. J. Davenport, 217; Sergeant E. G. Falk, 213; Captain W. C. Morgan, 212; Private E. H. Whitcombe, 211; Private O. Oleson, 203. I would respectfully recommend that the five men named be supplied with State decorations as sharpshooters.

During the competition Lieut. C. S. Williams served as captain of the Minnesota team; Lieut. Lee and Lieut. Pray as range officers; Corporal Britton and Privates Oleson, Bain and Whitcombe, as scorers, and Private Bell as commissary. Ex-Captain Amory was of valuable aid to the team, as was also Lieut. Glenn, U. S. A., who remained with the men in camp and on the range, and gave the men the benefit of his long experience in the regular service.

The conduct of the match under the supervision of Capt. Phil. Reade, U. S. A., could not have been better, and the rifle association was exceedingly fortunate in having an executive officer so thoroughly capable.

The Wisconsin National Guardsmen were exceedingly hospitable and everything that could be done by them was done to make the match a satisfactory and enjoyable one to the Minnesotians and others participating.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

The Adjutant General, State of Minnesota:

GENERAL:—I have the honor to report that in obedience to orders from General Headquarters detachments of companies A, B and I of this regiment were on duty at the armory in Minneapolis during the street car riots April 12th to 24th, and that detachments of companies C, D and E were on duty at the armory in St. Paul during the same time, so that the arms and other State property were guarded against any attempt to use them in the interest of those who were disturbing the peace, and a sufficient force was on hand to summon without delay the companies stationed in each city, had their services been required to suppress disorder.

I have also the honor to report that on the 13th day of last month, when the report of a massacre at Mille Lacs by the Indians reached this city, on receipt of orders from General Headquarters companies C, D and E were ordered to assemble at the armory in St. Paul and companies A, B and I were ordered to assemble at the armory in Minneapolis, there to wait for orders to move to the scene of conflict.

It is greatly to be credited to the members of the companies named, that in two hours every member reported for duty, and that a strong and effective body of troops would have started for Mille Lacs, had it not been found that the disturbances had taken place on the government reservation and that they would be suppressed by the U. S. forces.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

W. B. BEND, Colonel.

The Adjutant General, State of Minnesota:

GENERAL:—I have the honor to report that, in pursuance of orders from General Headquarters, the First regiment encamped at Lake City from the 9th to the 18th of July, 1889, inclusive.

Consolidated morning reports were forwarded to your office daily during the encampment. Guard mounting and dress parade took place daily. The troops were drilled in battalion, and they practiced at the rifle range every day except Sunday. The regiment was reviewed during the encampment by the Commander in Chief, by the Adjutant General, by the Inspector General and by the Commanding officer of the Second regiment.

Good progress was made in drill and discipline, and the only drawback to success was the small attendance of the members of companies located in St. Paul and Minneapolis. This was owing in most cases to the very narrow policy of a large number of employers in these cities, who refused to allow their clerks the vacation necessary for the proper performance of their military duties. A statement in detail of the names of the absentees and the names of all employers who showed this lack of public spirit has already been furnished to your office.

We are liable at any time to have disorders which will necessitate the calling out of the National Guard for the protection of life and property, and when such an emergency arises, the citizens who will clamor the loudest for the maintenance of order and the preservation of their property, will be those who in times of peace and quiet refuse to make the slightest contribution to the drilling and disciplining of the forces upon which they and all others must rely.

Some people have the idea that the annual encampments are a sort of military picnic, but it is only because they will not avail themselves of the opportunity afforded them every year to visit the camps and see for themselves the conscientious work that is done there. The members of the National Guard give their time without any compensation, and in most cases they have to pay for the privilege of drilling, and common decency demands that their employers should second their efforts, instead of throwing every obstacle in their way, as many do.

The health of the camp was good. Eighteen sharpshooters and one hundred and seventy-eight marksmen were qualified. I enclose the reports of the Surgeon and of the Inspector of Rifle Practice.

The changes in the location of the sutler's store and of the sinks were very beneficial.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

W. B. BEND, Colonel.

Col. W. B. Bend, commanding First Regiment N. G. S. M.

SIR: I herewith tender my report for Camp Lakeview, from July 8th to July 18th, 1889:

The camp being situated in the same location as that of 1888, the hygienic conditions were about the same with the exception of the sinks, which were moved back about 125 yards from the wells, insuring better water and reducing the chances of contamination. The water supply was very satisfactory. The quarters, mess-tents, kitchens and sinks were daily inspected. Special care was taken in the inspection of food and the hygienic conditions kept as near perfect as the nature of the camp would permit.

During practice hours a medical officer was on duty at the range. The number reported for medical or surgical aid was 104. The major portion of cases were trivial in character; the most notable exception being the two cases of prostration by heat; both occurred while the men were off duty, and both terminating favorably. Three men were sent home by recommendation, by reason of infirmities contracted prior to camp.

The following will show the number of degrees indicated by the thermometer:

The camp could be considered a healthy one.

The Adjutant General, State of Minnesota:

GENERAL:—I have the honor to report that in accordance with orders from general headquarters, this regiment encamped at Camp Lakeview, July 8th to 17th, inclusive. The usual camp routine was followed, and good progress was made in drill, guard duty and aid to the wounded, the latter study being taken up for the first time in this State and with great success.

On the night of the 13th of July, a tornado swept over the camp and its vicinity, destroying many of the tents, and wrecking a steamboat on Lake Pepin, loaded with excursionists. As soon as the report of the wreck reached the camp a detachment was sent to the nearest point to the scene of the disaster, and it rendered efficient aid in rescuing the survivors and recovering the bodies of the dead. This detachment was relieved from time to time by other detachments, and the work was continued until Wednesday, when the last body was recovered. The advantage of having a disciplined force to prosecute the work was manifest to every observer, and the regiment has received unqualified praise for its services on the melancholy occasion.

Owing to the storm and to the details just mentioned, some of the usual camp work had to be omitted during the last three days, and the rifle practice was not up to the average heretofore maintained. This was owing in part to the poor ammunition furnished. In my judgment men cannot be taught to reload shells so as to make reliable ammunition for target practice, without more time than could be expended each day. For accurate firing, accurate ammunition is necessary, and while I deem it of the highest importance that the men should possess the knowledge necessary to reload shells, I do not think that novices in the work can as a rule turn out cartridges of sufficiently true proportions to enable fine work to be done at the range. I hope that in future encampments different arrangements may be made in regard to ammunition.

We have now encamped at Lakeview for three years, and I trust that we have been there for the last time. I must confess that my expectations in regard to the place have not been realized, and I think that a much better location can be found. I respectfully urge the appointment of a military commissioner to receive offers of suitable grounds for the annual encampments, and to make such a selection as may be deemed best. Special care should be taken not to place ourselves at the mercy of a railroad company which openly declares that it cares nothing for the National Guard or for the State of Minnesota, and which is less accommodating than any other road in the State.

I enclose the reports of the Surgeon and of the Inspector of Rifle Practice.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

W. B. BEND, Colonel.

Col. W. B. Bend, Commanding First Regiment N. G. S. M.

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor herewith to tender my report for camp of First regiment N. G. S. M. at Lakeview from July 8 to 17, 1890.

The records being lost or destroyed during the storm of Sunday, July 13, obliging me to omit data.

The camp was daily inspected, and necessary suggestions made relating to sanitary measures, which were cheerfully carried out by the various officers on duty.

The grounds and hygienic conditions being the same as the two previous years, the health of the camp so far as pertains to illness which is dependent on such influences was about the same. The majority of ailments reported could be traced to indiscretions in diet or changes incident to camp.

The surgical cases were trivial.

An officer was on duty daily at the range. Since my connection with the guard I have been fully awake to the importance and necessity of establishing a well equipped hospital and drilled corps, composed of representatives from the several companies of the regiment. Fully believing the time was ripe for the development of such a movement and as an experiment took the initiative during this camp, two volunteers from each company of the regiment were instructed in hospital corps drill and first care of the wounded (according to regulations adopted by M. D., U. S. A.) To my great surprise these men not only became interested but proficient. After the first lesson there were more volunteers than could be well handled.

Your surgeon would respectfully request your support in the furtherance of this work, deeming it of the utmost importance that at least two men in each company should be instructed in this work, thereby lessening the chances of fatal results that might arise at such times when surgical assistance could not be procured and when prompt, intelligent action might be the means of saving valuable life.

The regiment is sadly in need of proper surgical instruments, litters, field medicine cases, bandage boxes, hospital corps knives (of the pattern issued by the M. D., U. S. A.) and hospital tent.

The appropriation made by the state is entirely inadequate to meet the actual necessities and therefore ask your earnest co-operation in procuring a better equipped hospital—I would respectfully suggest that each company be given instructions at sometime during each year—designated by you—in hospital corps work; in the form of a lecture with illustrations by the surgeons of your staff.

Respectfully submitted,
R. J. FITZGERALD, M. D.,
 Major and Surgeon N. G. S. M.

 ANDREW J. ECKSTEIN, Adjutant.

FAIRMONT, MINN., AUG. 16, 1890.

Col. Jos. Bobleter, commanding 2d Reg't. Infantry, M. N. G., St. Paul, Minn.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed please find list of sharpshooters and marksmen who qualified as such at the annual encampment of the 2d Infantry, June 18th to 28th last.

Owing to the fact that this is the first year of practice under the new system, together with about four days of lost time on account of wet weather and excessive heat, the small arms practice of the regiment was not as satisfactory as it would have been under different circumstances. The new system of classification (with a few exceptions which will undoubtedly be corrected next year,) I consider a good one.

The feature of each regiment reloading its own ammunition was tried this year at camp, and, while it proves quite a saving to the state in ammunition, I think it can be improved upon by issuing to each regiment a set of the Goat Beach Reloading Tools, making the I. S. A. P. responsible for the same, together with material for such amount of ammunition as each regiment is entitled to, and have the work of reloading done under the supervision of some competent person before going to camp.

I would further recommend that captains of companies be more particular in instructing their men in the armory in position and aiming drills, as prescribed by "Small Arms Firing Regulations," as that part of a soldier's instruction is of more practical benefit to him than the manual of arms.

No soldier should be allowed to go to the range to fire who has not previously been instructed how to load, aim and fire his piece in the different positions prescribed for different ranges.

Two members of this command, Lieut. E. B. Shanks, Co. D, and Sergt. C. W. Carpenter, non-commission staff, this year completed their fifth qualification as sharpshooters, and are now in the class of "Distinguished Riflemen," and will be awarded the state decoration for same.

While the number of marksmen and sharpshooters appears small as compared with previous years, it is largely due to the fact that a large percentage of the command were recruits who had never been in camp before.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

E. W. BIRD,

First Lieut. and I. S. A. P., 2d Infantry, M. N. G.
